MEDICOS IN ANNUAL BANQUET HEAR CALL FOR STRONGER COOPERATION

Society Ends Yearly Session
With Social Occasion;
Officers Elected

Physicians of the territory should stand together as a body, and with the assistance of expert legal advice, it was declared informally and unofficially, but emphatically at the banquet last night, which closed the 24th annual session of the Medical Society of Hawaii.

The banquet was a social occasion and as such a marked success, good fellowship prevailing up and down the long table in the Country Club dining-room; but several of the speakers in the course of responses to toasts or extemporaneous remarks urged that individually and as a body the physicians work for wise legislation in so far as it affected hygiene, sanitation and the practice of medicine in Hawaii. The workmen's compensation act passed by the last legislature has come in for many a rap by the physicians, who have found out that several amendments should be made, and these will probably be urged before the next legislature.

Dr. A. N. Sinclair, vice-president of the society, acted ably as toastmaster last night in the absence of Col. Reynolds, the president. The absence of army men at the banquet board was regretted by several speakers. Every other element in the society was well represented. Dr. Arthur G. Hodgins and Dr. H. V. Murray as the committee on arrangements for the annual session brought their good work to a fitting close with a fine banquet.

Dr. E. D. Kilbourne, the newly-elected president, was greeted with applause when he urged upon the physicians present the necessity of individual effort and general cooperation to keep the Medical Society up and moving.

The speakers of the evening, called on largely at random by the toastmaster, were Dr. J. T. McDonald, who responded to the toast of "The American Medical Association"; Dr. William Seaman of Pearl Harbor, who spoke for the navy; Dr. F. E. Trotter, surgeon in command of the Public Health Service here; Dr. E. D. Kilbourne, the newly elected president of the association; Dr. A. G. Hodgins of the entertainment committee; R. O. Matheson, representing the laymen; Dr. Y. Mitamura, who spoke for the Japanese members; Dr. Frederick Irwin of Oahu; Dr. H. H. Wood of Waiakala; Dr. C. R. McLean of Ewa, and Dr. Claude Buffett of Kahuku, each of whom responded to the toast to the country physicians; Dr. Carl Keller and Dr. C. B. Wood.

Attorney A. A. Wilder, who was at the Country Club during the evening, was brought into the banquet room by friends in the medical profession and gave them a lively talk.

Election of officers to serve during the coming year brought to a close late yesterday afternoon the business end of the 24th annual meeting of the Medical Society of Hawaii.

The following officers were elected: Dr. E. D. Kilbourne, president; Dr. F. E. Trotter, vice-president; Dr. A. F. Jackson, secretary; Dr. J. J. Shepherd, treasurer. The executive committee will be composed of these officers and Drs. J. T. McDonald and A. G. Hodgins.

Interesting papers and brief but lively discussion consumed the greater part of the time at the final session. Dr. J. T. McDonald read a paper on "Fat People," which, while full of humor, yet was of really serious worth. Dr. Ed Marshall of the United States Public Health Service, now on the mainland, took as his topic "A Study of the Administration and Nursing Technique for Transmissible Diseases, as Practised by the Providence (Rhode Island) City Hospital, with Special Reference to Cross Infection." As Dr. Marshall is no longer stationed here the paper was read by Dr. Hodgins.

In discussing the last paper a member of the society called attention to Honolulu's lack of such a hospital for the treatment of infectious diseases which are rampant here, he asserted. A hospital such as the one at Providence should be erected here, he added.

AD CLUB ALSO OUT TO BOOST PINEAPPLE DAY

James D. Dole Will Talk Pineapple While Others Eat Pineapple

"That was a pretty fine picture of a pineapple published this morning—the one about ten times larger than a cow," commented C. B. Gage, of the Ad Club today, "but tomorrow the Ad Club is going to show something even more novel. We are going to serve pineapple soup at the Ad Club lunch. And it will be perfectly good soup, too. Chief McBride says so."

The Ad Club weekly lunch at the Young Hotel tomorrow will be a pineapple lunch in celebration of the nation-wide Pineapple Day boomed by Hawaii. James D. Dole, variously referred to as the "pineapple pioneer," the "pineapple king," the "pineapple baron" and the "pineapple magnate," is down for the principal talk. He will tell what the Promotion Committee and the packers have done to spread the name, fame and profitable market for the Hawaiian fruit, also how 5000 cases of crushed pines were given away by the packers at the exposition to advertise the brand.

And the lunch will be pineapple from start to finish—fifty-seven varieties, promises Mr. Gage. James A. Wilder, Boy Scout Commissioner for Hawaii, who will return to Honolulu in the Matsushita tomorrow morning, will be a guest at the Ad Club luncheon tomorrow at noon, and will give a short talk on his mainland trip.

WANTS JAPANESE BOYS TO BECOME BOY SCOUTS

The Boy Scout movement, which has reached from country to country and encircled the globe, will advance another step farther in Honolulu when the Japanese boys of the city enroll as members of the Japanese Boy Scouts. Mr. Miyakawa, a prominent member of the American Bar Association who has been doing research work in this city, is at the head of the movement. Mr. Miyakawa is proud of the fact that he is an American citizen, and stated that he would be pleased to cooperate with anyone interested in this movement.

Mr. Miyakawa states that the Hawaiian-born Japanese have talked much of their duties as American citizens, and he expects that a large number of local youths will join the Boy Scouts. That a Japanese boy should be taught the proper respect for the flag and should always be ready to assist a friend in need, were two statements made by Mr. Miyakawa.

Two thousand persons witnessed the hanging at Moriyoshi, Ill., of Joe Debberry, a negro, accused of the murder of Mrs. U. H. Martin.
